Mother Baby Unit

The Mother Baby Unit was established in 1994 to provide specialised support and care to families experiencing postnatal difficulties in the weeks and months following the arrival of a new baby, up to twelve months of age.

These difficulties include:

- Feeding difficulties
- Maternal exhaustion
- Infant sleeping
- Reflux and colic
- Unsettled/irritable infants
- Adjusting to parenthood

Our unit is able to offer individual support and planning over a four night residential stay. There is opportunity for education, rest, support and group discussions. Following discharge we will support patients with telephone contact if required.

Referrals:

It is possible for patients to self refer, however patients will still need a medical practitioner to complete the Pre Admission Medical Report.

Patients will also need to complete the Mother Baby Unit Intake Form (MR 126) and Edinburgh Post natal Depression Scale (MR 335) available to download from our website www.mitchamprivate.com.au/Mother-Baby-Unit and forward all completed forms to our Intake Coordinator via Mail, Fax or Email:

Tel: 03 9210 3134 Fax: 03 9210 3183 Email: motherbabyunit.mph@ramsayhealth.com.au

Perinatal Mental Health

Our modern Unit provides specialised care for mothers experiencing perinatal depression, anxiety and other related conditions.

Women and their partners may go through a wide range of emotional experiences during pregnancy and the year following birth (the perinatal period).

Having to deal with so many changes during pregnancy and the year following birth can place some women at risk of developing or having an exacerbation of an existing mental health condition including:

- Depression
- Mood and Anxiety Disorders
- Stress and Grief
- Bipolar Disorders
- Schizophrenia
- Post Traumatic Stress Disorders
- Medication Changes

Mothers can be admitted with their babies up to the age of 12 months

Referrals:

A referral from a psychiatrist or GP is needed for all inpatient admissions.
